Chapter 6. Requirements concerning and treatment of list proposals

Section 6-1. Requirements concerning list proposals

- (1) The closing time and date for submission of list proposals is 12 p.m., 31 March in the year of the election. A list proposal is deemed to have been submitted when it has been delivered to the municipal authority in the case of elections to the municipal council and delivered to the county authority in the case of parliamentary elections and elections to the county council. The same party or group may put up only one list in each constituency.
- (2) A list proposal must satisfy the following conditions:
  - a) It must specify to which election it applies.
  - b) It must have a heading which specifies the party or the group that has put the proposal forward. Where the list proposal has been put forward by a registered political party, the heading shall be identical with the registered name of the party. The name must in other respects not be confusable with the name of a registered political party, a registered Sami political unit or with the heading of other list proposals in the constituency.
  - c) It must specify which candidates are standing for election on the list. A list proposal must not have joint candidates with other list proposals applying to the same election in the same constituency. The number of candidates shall satisfy the requirements of section 6-2 below. The candidates shall be listed with their forename(s), surname and year of birth. Information about the candidates' occupation or residence may be shown. This shall be done where it is necessary to avoid confusion of candidates on the list.
  - d) A list proposal must have been signed by a certain number of persons, cf. section 6-3 below.
  - e) It must contain the name of a representative and an alternate among those who have signed the list proposal. These shall have the power to negotiate with the County Electoral Committee or the Electoral Committee with respect to changes to the list proposal. There should also be specified the names of a certain number of persons among those who have signed the list proposal who shall function as a representation committee with the power to withdraw the list proposal.
- (3) A list proposal must be accompanied by such documents as are mentioned in section 6-4 below.
- (4) A list proposal shall not contain any other type of information to the electors than that indicated in this section.

Section 6-2. The number of names of candidates on a list proposal

- (1) At parliamentary elections a list proposal shall be filled out in sequence with the names of as many candidates as there shall be returned members of the Storting from the constituency. The proposal may in addition contain no more than six other names.
- (2) At local government elections a list proposal shall be filled out in sequence with a minimum of seven candidates. The proposal may contain a maximum number of candidates corresponding to the number of members who shall be returned to the county council or the municipal council, with no more than six other additional names.
- (3) At elections to the municipal council a certain number of candidates at the top of the list proposal may be given an increased share of the poll. In such cases candidates are given an increase in their personal share of the poll corresponding to 25 per cent of the number of ballot papers cast for the list concerned in the election. Depending upon the number of members of the municipal council who are to be returned, the proposers may give an increased share of the poll to the following numbers of candidates:

11-23 members: no more than 4

25-53 members: no more than 6

55 members or more: no more than 10

The names of these candidates shall appear first on the list proposal and in boldface.

Section 6-3. *The number of signatures on a list proposal

(1) For parties included in the Register of Political Parties which at the previous parliamentary election polled no fewer than 500 votes in one constituency or no fewer than 5000 votes in the whole country, it is sufficient for the list proposal to be signed by no fewer than two of the members of the executive committee of the party's local branch responsible for the constituency to which the list applies. The same applies to parties that have been included in the Register of Political Parties subsequent to the previous parliamentary election. The signatories must be entitled to vote in the constituency. Where a registered political party puts up a list proposal together with an unregistered group, the provisions of subsection (2) below nevertheless apply.

(2) The following rules apply to other proposers:

- a) At parliamentary elections and elections to the county council a list proposal shall have been signed by no fewer than 500 persons entitled to vote in the constituency at the election concerned.
- b) At elections to the municipal council a list proposal shall have been signed by such number of persons entitled to vote in the municipal authority area as corresponds to 2 per cent of the number of inhabitants entitled to vote at the previous municipal council election. A list proposal shall nevertheless as a minimum have been signed by as many persons entitled to vote in the municipal authority area as there shall be returned members of the municipal council. Signatures from 300 persons will in all cases constitute a sufficient number.

Section 6-4. *Appendices to list proposals

List proposals shall have the following appendices:

- a) A list of the candidates' dates of birth.
- b) A list of the dates of birth and residential addresses of those who have signed the list proposal.
- c) Where any candidate at a local government election is not registered at the Population Registry as resident in the county or in the municipal authority area when the list proposal is submitted, a declaration from the candidate must be enclosed stating he or she will be eligible on Election Day.
- d) Where any candidate at a local government election is not eligible by reason of the post he or she holds, a declaration from the candidate must be enclosed stating that he or she will have relinquished any such post by the time at which the county council or the municipal council commences its functions.

Section 6-5. *Withdrawal of a list proposal

A list proposal that has been submitted may be withdrawn by the representation committee. Notice of withdrawal must be submitted no later than 12 pm, 20 April in the year of the election.

Section 6-6. *The electoral authorities' treatment of the list proposals

- (1) The list proposals shall be put on display for public scrutiny as they come in.
- (2) The electoral authority in question decides by 1 June in the year of the election whether proposals for electoral lists and withdrawals of list proposals may be approved.
- (3) Where a list proposal at the time of its submission does not satisfy the statutory requirements, the electoral authorities shall by means of negotiations with the representatives of the list proposal seek to bring the proposal into conformity with statute law. The same applies to notice of withdrawal of any list proposal.
- (4) If it is unclear who is entitled to represent a registered political party at the local level the electoral authorities shall obtain and use as their basis a statement from the party's executive body, cf. section 3 (2) litre b of the Political Parties Act.
- (5) The electoral authorities shall inform all candidates on the list proposals of the fact that they have been placed on a list proposal and of entitlement to apply for exemption. Any signatory or any candidate who appears on more than one list proposal for the same election shall be ordered to give notice within a specified time limit of the proposal on which he or she wishes to appear. Otherwise the person in question is to be placed on the list proposal that was submitted first.

Section 6-7. Publication of approved electoral lists

When the list proposals have been approved, the electoral authorities shall put the official electoral lists on display for public inspection. The electoral authorities announce the headings on the approved electoral lists and provide information about where they are on display.

Section 6-8. Appeal

An appeal seeking to change the decision of the Electoral Committee or of the County Electoral Committee to approve or reject a list proposal must be submitted no later than seven days after the publication of the headings of the approved electoral lists. If the grounds for the appeal are that the sole right to the name of a party has been infringed, a registered political party also has the right of appeal. Otherwise the provisions of chapter 13 relating to appeals apply.

Section 6-9. Regulations

The Ministry may issue Regulations concerning the treatment of the list proposals.

Chapter 7. Ballot papers. Electors' right to make changes on ballot papers

Section 7-1. Printing of ballot papers

Section 7-2. Changes on the ballot paper

(1) At parliamentary elections an elector may change the order in which the candidates are listed on the ballot paper. This is done by the placing of a number by the name of the candidate. The elector may also delete the name of a candidate by proceeding according to the instructions on the ballot paper.

(2) At local government elections an elector may give candidates on the ballot paper one personal vote. This is done by the placing of a mark by the name of the candidate.

(3) At elections to the municipal council an elector may also give a personal vote to candidates on other electoral lists. This is done by the writing of the names of these candidates on the ballot paper. Such a personal vote may be given to such number of candidates as corresponds to a quarter of the number of members who are to be returned to the municipal council. Irrespective of the size of the municipal council a personal vote may nevertheless always be given to a minimum of five candidates from other lists. When the elector gives a personal vote to eligible candidates on other lists, a corresponding number of list votes are transferred to the list or lists on which these candidates appear.

(4) Any other changes on the ballot paper do not count when the final election result is being determined.

Section 7-3. Regulations

The Ministry may issue Regulations concerning the design, printing and distribution of ballot papers.

(4) In the case of parliamentary elections and county elections the County Electoral Committees shall in connection with the determination of the election result register any corrections electors have made on the ballot papers. (2) Of these, 150 are returned as constituency members and 19 as members at large. One member at large shall be returned for each constituency.

Section 11-3. *Allocation of the seats to the constituencies at parliamentary elections

(1) All the seats in the Storting shall be allocated to the constituencies. The distribution is undertaken by the Ministry every eight years.

(2) The distribution figure for each constituency is determined by taking the number of inhabitants in the constituency at the end of the penultimate year before the parliamentary election in question and adding the number of square kilometres in the constituency multiplied by 1.8.

(3) The distribution figure for each constituency is divided by 1, 3, 5, 7 and so forth. The quotients that are arrived at are numbered consecutively. The parliamentary seats are allocated to the constituencies on the basis of the quotients arrived at. Seat No. 1 goes to the constituency that has the largest quotient. Seat No. 2 goes to the constituency that has the second largest quotient and so forth. If two or more constituencies have the same quotient, the parliamentary seat goes to the constituency that has the highest distribution figure. If they have the same distribution figure, the constituency to which the seat is to go is determined by lot.

(4) The Ministry informs the Storting of the outcome of the distribution of seats.

Section 11-4. *Distribution of constituency seats between the electoral lists at parliamentary elections

(1) Of the number of seats each constituency shall have in pursuance of section 11-3, all with the exception of one are to be distributed as constituency seats. The last seat is allocated by the National Electoral Committee as a seat at large.

(3) Sainte-Laguës's modified method means that the total vote polled by each list is divided by 1.4, 3, 5, 7 and so forth. Each total vote polled shall be divided as many times as necessary to find the number of seats the list shall have. The first seat goes to the list that has the largest quotient. The second seat goes to the list that has the second largest quotient and so forth. If two or more lists have the same quotient, the seat goes to the list that has polled the largest number of votes. If they have polled the same number of votes, it is determined by lot to which list the seat shall be allocated.

Section 11-5. *Returning of members to the constituency seats at parliamentary elections

(1) When it has been decided how many constituency seats an electoral list shall have, the County Electoral Committee allocates these to the candidates on the list. Candidates who are not eligible are disregarded. The returning of members takes place in the following manner: First the names listed as No. 1 on the ballot papers are counted. The candidate who has most such placements is elected. Thereafter the names listed as No. 2 on the ballot papers are counted. The candidate who has most such placements when the results from the first and second counts are added together is elected. The counts continue in the same manner until all the parliamentary seats the list shall have, have been filled. If two or more candidates achieve the same result, the original order on the list is decisive.

(2) Each list shall as far as possible be allocated as many alternates as it gets members of the Storting, with the addition of three. The candidates for seats as alternates are distributed in the same manner as the members in accordance with subsection (1) above.

Section 11-6. *Allocation of the seats at large to the parties and constituencies at parliamentary elections 2

If two or more parties have the same quotient, the seat goes to the party with the largest number of votes. If they have the same number of votes, the party to which the seat is to go is determined by lot.
- (3) The National Electoral Committee allocates the parties' seats at large with one for each constituency, in the following manner:
- a) For each constituency and for each party that has won at least one seat at large, the party's total vote polled in the constituency is taken as a starting point. If the party has not won any constituency seat, the party's total vote polled in the constituency shall be taken as a basis. If the party has won a constituency seat, the party's total vote polled shall be divided by a number that is one more than twice the number of constituency seats the party has won in the constituency. The party's total vote polled or the quotients arrived at are divided by the average number of votes per constituency seat in the constituency in question.
  - b) The quotients arrived at for all constituencies and for all parties that have won at least one seat at large are arranged in order according to size. If two or more quotients are of equal size, the number of votes in the constituencies in question is decisive. In the event of an equality of votes the order is determined by lot.
  - c) Seat at large No. 1 is allocated to that party and that constituency which after the calculation above has the largest quotient. Seat at large No. 2 is allocated to that party and that constituency which has the second largest quotient and so forth.
  - d) When a constituency has been allocated a seat at large, that constituency is disregarded in the further calculations. A written declaration of which election is to be accepted shall be sent to the chairman of the relevant County Electoral Committee within three days of receipt of the notification of election from the County Electoral Committees. If the person in question does not make any such declaration, election is deemed to have been accepted in the constituency in which he or she is entitled to vote, or ' if the person in question is not entitled to vote in any constituency – the constituency which comes first in alphabetical order.
